

Product Liability Defense

Hart Wagner provides exceptional products liability defense in the Pacific Northwest for manufacturers and sellers of all types of products from the biggest machinery to the smallest component parts and medical devices. The Hart Wagner product liability defense attorneys have tried numerous product liability cases for manufacturers, distributors, sellers, and end-users.

We defend claims involving manufacturing defects, failure to warn, and design defects. We use highly qualified engineers and product safety experts in the country to bolster our defense and win cases.

For years, Hart Wagner has represented designers, manufacturers, sellers, and end-users who have been sued for products liability. Our product liability group handles such cases as:

- Vehicle rollovers
- Airbag injuries
- Boating accidents
- Infant and child automobile safety seats
- Commercial airline crashes
- Unsafe baby furniture and toys
- Electrical injuries
- Industrial accidents

Hart Wagner defends claims brought in Oregon and Washington courts at both the state and federal level.
